Commission nouses for the hand-ling of American goods have been opened in nearly every city and town of import-ance in Palestine and Syria, and in many instances they are conducted by wideawake American business men. In a single month this year one of the houses im-ported American leather to the value of $700. Another has established a market for American flour, and predicts that in a ew years the people of the Holy Land will be good consumers of this staple. Cheap American watches are in demand, and have been sold to scores of the natives, who regard them with increasing

More than 200 photographs were recently sent there, one-half going to Da-mascu's and the rest to Jerusalem and near-by places. The best customers for alking machines, it is said, are the Moslems of Beirut, Jerusalem, and Damas-cus, who buy them for their harems. One commission house at Beirut has bought, according to G. Bie Ravndal, the Amerian Consul, a $350 windmill from an Illi nois firm, and will erect it on the Bakaa plain. This firm is confident that there is o be an important market for windmills n Palestine and Syria, and for irrigation archinery of all sorts. These foreigners in most instances are Jews, who are leaders in the "Back to Jerusalem" movement which has been preached so elo-quently by Israel Zangwill and others.

Speaking once more of windmills, a 17he interior, west of the Jordan, for flourding purposes, and another large one ought in Chicago, is just going up at Yafa. Even American beer has found its way into the country. One firm has sold to date 519 cases of 48 bottles each, and another has recently received 150 cases direct from Milwaukee. The municipality of Beirut has added a $3,300 steam street Asia, although the way is opening for

Thus is ancient Syria giving place to modern Syria, and the work is going forward with a will. Important commercial concessions have been secured from the Sultan, who appears to be favrably disposed to the modernizing of this part of his dominions, and is watching the experiment with interest. The Turkish authorities have themselves been buyers of American wares. Within the last year they have arranged for the sinking of a large number of wells along the historic pilgrimage route to Mecca, and are providing them with windmills. In this way it is believed that the hardships of the annual pilgrimage can be lessened, and the pilgrims kept in reasonably good health. The sickness of former years, it is asserted, has been almost entirely due to the impure water along the route. o the impure water along the route.

Exhibits Installed in the United States Government Building.

Work of the Various Departments Illustrated by Models-Relies of the Conflict With the Spaniards. The Display of the Treasury.

BUFFALO, May 23.-The United States Government exhibits at the Pan-American Exposition are the first to be ready. The Navy Department's show is one of the most interesting. Its miniature naval most interesting. Its miniature naval fleet, made up of the New York and other cruisers, the commerce destroyer Colum-bia, the Oregon, and other battleships, the new battleships Kearsarge and Illinois, types of the smaller cruisers, monitors training ships, and the ram Katahdin, and the dynamite thrower, the Vesuvius.

Each of the nine bureaus of the depart ment has a separate and complete exhibit, ordnance, construction, medical, etc. way of curios there are a Spanish tora propeller from the Maine. There is als a metal model, about three and a half feet long, of the submarine torpedo boat Opposite the navy exhibit in the south end of the building is a very large exhibit of the Postoffice Department, showing the various methods of mail service by land and by sea. For sea service there are large models of "ocean greyhounds," and or the land service models of cars and vagons, with a series of tableaux depicting mail carriers at work in the old days passes of the West and Alaska. Many urios are shown.

The Treasury Department displays

each side of the main entrance apparatus of its six sub-departnents-the Mint, the Bureau of Enraving and Printing, Lighthouse Ser-ice, Marine Hospital Service, Coast Surand Life Saving Service. There are ny interesting models in the lighthouse vision, an engraving machine, a geome ric lathe that makes the designs on Govrnment notes, and a coin stamping machine that makes medals for sale. It is, s a whole, the best exhibt put out by the department.

Opposite this the War Department shows ordnance, big and small; figures of niformed men of all arms, models of forts and batteries, torpedoes for harbor defence, and exhibits of the Signal Corps and West Point. In the open, just back of the Government Building, this departent has an exhibit of heavy rifles, inding a giant disappearing gun. xhibit of the State Department there is a large display of State portraits, State curios and documents, including the Span-sh war declaration, signed by Charles F. Manderson, President pro tempore of the

An extensive exhibit of the Department of the Interior includes sectional exhib its of the Geological Survey, Patent Office, Bureau of Indian Affairs, and Bureau of Education. From the Patent Office are shown the latest and most improved reapers, threshers, etc., in models; printing and typesetting machines, a voting ma-chine, an x-ray exhibit, a machine for nine, an x-ray exhibit, a machine for notographing colors, an electrograph, perroducing pictures by telegraphic currents, and a case showing the process of oper manufacture from wood. The Buau of Indian Affairs shows the aborigial work of Indians, things connected ith their training, and specimens of heir workmanship today. The exhibit of the Smithsonian Institution and the National Museum is one of largest and most attractive in the overnment Building. It has been arranged to illustrate the life and history the three continents of America. There are three divisions of this exhibit—an irropology, biology, and geology. In the vision of anthropology a series of regurity arranged cases show, first, the aboginal people of the Americas from the skimos to the Patagonians, each case porcesenting man, woman, and child, life by or tribal life; second, the dwellings of these Pan-American aborigines, and, hird, their handlerafts, the individual asses showing weapons and domestic intruments arranged from left to right in order of their districts from north to outh. In the division of biology the axidermists have represented in brief, hough by some of their best work, the fish, flesh, and fowl' of Pan-America. The division of geology has fossils and keletons, including the prehistoric repfles not previously exhibited.

The announcement that the Keith $10,000 production of living art studies will be retained for another week at Chase's with an entirely new set of subjects has lent new interest to what promises to be an excellent bill. The Keith pictures have made a decided impression this week and are attracting to the playhouse audiences of unusual proportions. Their retention

EXPENSIVE MINCE PIES.

Eating Them Played Havoc With a Boy's Suit for Damages.

(From the Philadelphia North American.)

Johnny Foehl ate five mince ples at one sitting, and this little feast cost him exactly $5,000. His suit against the Camden and Suburban Railway Company for that amount for injuries sustained in being pushed from a car was progressing favorably to him yesterday in the Camden court. Half a dozen doctors had sworn that he was an invalid as the result of the accident, when Willie Brower, one of Johnny's witnesses, in his rambling testithe accident, when Willie Brower, one of Johnny's witnesses, it his rambling testimony, told of Johnny love for pies.

Counsel for the trolley company saw a glimmer of hope in this.

"Could he eat a whole pie?" was asked of Willie.

"Why, yes, he ate five within a few minutes last week," the boy replied.

The three lawyers who represented Johnny were on their feet in an instant, demanding of the court to know what mince pie had to do with Johnny Froehl being injured by a trolley car. They wanted this portion of the testimony stricken out.

ed this portion of the testimony stricken out.

"Well." declared counsel for the trolley company, "any boy who can eat five mince pies at one sitting is not very much of an inval.d."

The court admitted the mince pie testimony. Having got into the case, the pies remained to a finish.

Counsel for the plaintiff wanted to bring witnesses to prove the pies were small becent ones. They were willing to send for a pie to show the jury. The railway company's lawyers conceded that the pies were small, but contended that even so no invalid could eat five of them.

When all of the testimony was in the court, relieving the jury, declared that Johnny Poehi had not made out a case. The mince pie testimony had been fatal to it. the concert which the Georgetown Or chestra announces for next Saturday

James Richmond Glenroy, "the man with the green gloves;" the Nondescripts, in refined negro comedy; Mattand Carry Howard, in comedy pantomimes; the novelty dancing quartette, Welby, Pearl, Nellis, and Fell, and the Hungarian Gypsy Band will be on the list of attractions. The Biograph will show twelve new and inspiring pictures, one showing the coming of night at the Pan-American Exposition and the illumination of the marvelous tower. The bill should prove very interesting. (From the London Sketch.) curious coincidence King Edward received an address from the Jewish community on the same day as that presented by the Roman Catholics of the Kingdom. His Majesty has always entertained very cordial relations with the sons and daughters of Israel, and, as was shown during the South African war, there is no more patriotic section of the community, while the fact that so many members of the generous house of Rothschild have made England their home has undoubtedly contributed to the material wealth and financial stability of the country. d an address from the Jewish co undoubtedly contributed to the material wealth and financial stability of the country.

Many of the most popular and accomplished London hostesses are Jewish ladies. Lady Battersea, for example, is, from a social point of view, one of the pillars of the Liberal party, her beautiful home, situated just opposite the Marble Arch, being constantly thrown open to prominent members of the opposition. Lady Pirbright often entertains cosmopolitan gatherings both at her town house and at Henley Park, where she and Jord Pirbright some time ago received a scort visit from King Edward. Lord and Lauy Rothschild's house in Piccadilly is a meeting place both for the great world and for those busied with high finance, while among the ballgivers of society Mrs. Leopold de Rothschild. the charming Italian wife of Lord Rothschild's popular younger brother—at whose wedding, by the way, the King, as Prince of Wales, was present, this being the first time he had assisted in a ceremony at a Jewish synagogue—has earned the heartfelt thanks of innumerable chaperons and debutantes.

The proposition of the proposition of the purchase by Sir Edward Sassoon of ing and the comedy scenes are highly entertaining. The action takes place in the Southern State after which the play is named, and deals with the healing of the old wounds of the Confederacy. Gallant Northern lovers come wooing daughters of the Southland, and an old man's broken heart is mended. Many admirable types of the South, which Washingtonians will recognize as true to life, are introduced in the play.

The cast will require the full strength of the company and several extra players will be especially engaged. In the leading heroic role, Edwin Arden, the new leading man, will have an opportunity of duplicating the success he has scored this week in "Captain Swift." Minnie Radcliffe will have the leading feminine role. thanks of inhumerable chaperons and debutantes.

The purchase by Sir Edward Sassoon of the splendid palace built in Park Lane by the late Barney Barrato looks as if he and Lady Sassoon intended in the near future to entertain on a great scale.

10th, 11th, and F Sts. N. W.

An Important Remnant Day.

Specially interesting because of the great variety of the assortments and the littleness of the prices—and because the several classes of goods offered are worthy, and just such things as are in broad and immediate demand. Thus the buying opportunities afforded are unusually attractive.

Dress Goods Persontering

Dress Goods Department offers a large Oress Goods Department ofters a large collection of useful lengths in both woolen and cotten fabrics, suitable for women's wrappers, waists, house and traveling dresses, walking suits, rainy-day skirts, and children's waists and frocks.

Every department in the house is represented—and very low remnant prices prevail.
